

It is hard to see in this screenshot, but the encrypted password stored within the database is 'sdvvzrug' This is decrypted in the explanation below.

This is the database inspector that I use to ensure data is successfully added, edited or removed from the database.

Here we can see the new employee Has successfully been stored in The database. Please see the Explanation below to see if this Test was successful.